An elderly lady
came in on Friday
with books, manuscripts, pictures etc. by and
about Tolstoy and Tscherkoff. She said
she was the daughter of Perno, a Tolstoy
scholar in Bournemouth.
She remembered Tony,
knows Harold and
remembers meeting

you and promising to bring these books in
for use of WRI (or
to sell or ~~give~~ them away if we don't want them). They
seem quite interesting, possibly valuable —
I'm afraid I didn't get her name or
address but Harold might know. They're in the box ~~beside~~ next to your bookshelf.
